Boy Without Ears to Grow Hearing Aids in Abdomen

PITTSBURGH. — Eight-year-old Jimmy Meadors, Hartstown, Pa., is going to grow a pair of ears in his abdomen.

Jimmy was born without ears. Now doctors are going to provide what nature forgot.

He has undergone the first in a series of six to eight operations in Children's hospital. Dr. S. M. Dupertuis, a plastic surgeon, is in charge. The process will take two years.

Cartilage will be removed from Jimmy's ribs and molded into the shape of ears. The "ears" will then be placed in the boy's abdominal cavity for a period of time to foster tissue growth.

Later, they will be transplanted to the head where they will function as real "live ears."

Jimmy can hear normally now, despite the lack of ear openings on either side of his head. Doctors say he has normal auditory canals and eardrums.

The operations were arranged by the Greenville Rotary club. The boy's father is a fitter at the Greenville Steel Car company.

Mongolia Yields Evidence Of Fabulous Civilization

MOSCOW, USSR.—The far-away reaches of Mongolia have yielded up evidence of a fabulous civilization which flourished there 2,000 years ago, a Leningrad professor said.

S. I. Rudenko, writing in the newspaper Evening Moscow, describes a natural "super-refrigerator" containing the mummified bodies of a tattoed man and a girl musician.

The discovery was made deep in the isolated Altai mountains of Outer Mongolia, where other excellently preserved mummies were found in 1947.

Rudenko said the tattooed man must have been a noble or a chief. The tattooing covers the entire body and is "astonishingly fine artistic work" consisting mostly of pictures of animals.

The woman, said Rudenko, "must have been a good musician, for she had fine, long, thin fingers and many musical instruments."

Other discoveries in the tomb of petrified logs—which because of the extreme cold and its construction turned into a natural icebox —included a gilded chariot, leather carpets, diadems of wood covered with thin gold; round bronze mirrors; exquisite tables and jewelry and partly dyed furs.

"Thousands of articles found there," said Rudenko, "give a clear picture of the life and customs of an ancient tribe that lived in the Altai region more than 2,000 years ago. Judging from many articles discovered, such as the skins of leopards and cheetahs, it can be guessed that the tribe traded with distant countries."

Truman Declared Owner Of "Most Hypnotic" Eyes

LOS ANGELES.—The most hypnotic eyes in the world belong to President Truman, Premier Stalin, singer Risa Stevens, actress Jane Greer, actor Kirk Douglas and Senator Margaret Chase of Maine, the National Institute of Hypnotism has concluded.

The group said it found "compassionate understanding" in Senator Chase's and "smoldering promise" in Miss Greer's.

The chapter presented the initiation ceremony of the Improved Farmer degree, at which time 14 boys were initiated. At the close of the program the popularity contest sponsored by the chapter was reported by the advisor. The following boys won prizes: Elmore Marshall, McKinley Tanner, Charles Jeffers. The contest netted 35.45.

The annual musical festival will be held at the white high school auditorium the Fourth Sunday at 4 P. M.

The pastor will deliver a Palm Sunday message at First Baptist Church Sunday morning.

Deacon and Mrs. G. J. Stevens are visiting in Baltimore, Md. and Pittsburgh, Pa.

4-H Clubber Takes Fox-Trapping Crown

New York State Rates Raymond Premru Best

The title of New York's fox-trapping champion for 1948 is held by Raymond Premru, of Gorham in Ontario county.

The youthful 4-H club member led the list of 800 trappers from 32 counties with a total catch of 50 during the year. Second honors went to Gene Gage, of RFD 1, Canandaigua, who trapped 42. Tied for third with 34 foxes apiece were Russell Kilian, of Cowlesville, and William Smith, Jr., of Ancramdale.

With the side of his garage piled high with pelts, here is Gene Gage, of RFD 1, Canandaigua, New York state, who trapped 42 foxes during 1948 and won honors in the statewide contest.

The 800 trappers in the contest accounted for 1,691 foxes, with reported specimens outnumbering the gray animals six to one, according to Prof. D. B. Fales, assistant 4-H club leader. After four years, a total of 8,768 foxes have been trapped by rural boys of the state.

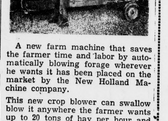
Some 60 county trapping champions were honored at the banquet which brought the 1948 season to a close. Agricultural and conservation officials and adult professional trappers attended the ceremony and watched the presentation of awards.

Fenerty, the state champion, received a repeating shotgun as top prize. Other awards totaling about $250 in value were presented to trappers and pelt preparation winners.

The New York state poultry council, the state Farm Bureau federation, the state conservation council and the American Agriculturist cooperated in sponsoring the program of awards, entertainment and banquet.

The annual fox trapping contest is conducted by the New York state extension service in cooperation with those agencies and the state conservation department.

New Crop Blower



A new farm machine that saves the farmer time and labor by automatically blowing forage wherever he wants it has been placed on the market by the New Holland Machine company.

This new crop blower can swallow blow it anywhere the farmer wants up to 20 tons of hay per hour and to store it. Or, if the farmer is filling his silo, the blower handles up to 25 tons of chopped corn an hour.

Weighing 1,350 pounds, the blower has a 12-foot hopper for receiving crops from the field. A patented leveling device keeps the forage blowing evenly into a large throat which feeds a 42-inch flywheel.

Whirling at speeds up to 1,200 r. p.m., this huge "fan" blows crops through an eight-inch pipe wherever the farmer wants to "aim" it.

Fertilizer Formula Found "Sure Bet" After Tests

Maryland corn producers looking for a "sure bet" now have their answer. Five years' tests show that 200 pounds of 3-12-16 fertilizer applied with the fertilizer attachment on a modern corn planter is practically a "sure bet." Research workers at the state's agricultural experiment station report that this application gave higher returns for the fertilizer invested than any other practice.

Many greetings!

We'd better start right in with the news for things have really been happening.

Many thanks go to Mrs. Cheatham and the Spanish Club for the wonderful party Friday night. The dances and songs of the four lovely and talented Puerto Rican girls were beautiful. The decorations were very attractive and everyone enjoyed the breaking of the pinata. The confetti egg throwing also was fun.

The Spanish Club, with the Puerto Rican guests enjoyed a chicken supper prior to the party.

The baseball team is really on the beam. The game played at Altavista Friday evening was won by Appomattox by a score of 16 to 9. The team played Buckingham on Wednesday, winning 6 to 5. Three cheers go to Buddy for hitting a triple. More power, boys!

Since the civics classes have been studying court procedure, some of the classes had the opportunity of going to court on Thursday.

The movie, "The Shortest Way Home" showed Friday afternoon in the auditorium was very interesting.

There's to be a canteen the 14th, sponsored by the 10th grade. This will be an Easter party.

Tea of the girls from A. H. S. served tea to the U. D. C. Saturday afternoon in the recently reconstructed McLean House.

The girls were dressed in costumes of the 1860's.

The personality this week is one of the three seniors of '49. (Bet you have guessed her already). Any way we want to tell you a little bit about this splendid girl. She has brown hair and brown eyes -likes a graduate of the class of '47 (he happens to have red hair). She has been coming to our school only one year. She used to live in Kentucky. Shucks! We've told you too too much.

Bye for this time!

Liberty Church Plans Supper

Battle Issues Statement On School Needs

Richmond, April 11 (Specail to Times-Virginian) State Senator John S. Battle, candidate for the office of Governor of Virginia subject to the Democratic Primary August 2, if elected governor, will recommend to the General Assembly that $57,000,000 be made available immediately for school construction and that the state provide $15,000,000 per year for further construction until the present school building situation is relieved.

Senator Battle made this statement this week from his headquarters in Richmond, in which he not only pointed to this as the way to ward relieving the present school building problem but also recommended a "reasonable salary scale for all teaching personnel with provisions for periodic increases based on length of service and demonstrated ability." He recommends that the retirement system "be re-examined and revised to provide more attractive benefits for capable teachers upon retirement."

He said that the source of $57,000,000 would be the retirement fund, the general fund surplus and the sinking fund from which money could be borrowed on a safe basis. He said that the $15,000,000 to be made available each year for further construction "should be possible without additional taxes in the absence of any severe financial recession."

Senator Battle also said in his statement that he pledged further "to recommend legislation to the General Assembly to make available state funds in addition to those mentioned to augment local school funds should it be necessary to obtain the objective" in his school program.

Safety Council To Be Formed

Col. C. W. Woodson will be the speaker at a meeting here Tuesday evening, April 19, at 8 o'clock, at the court house, to organize an Appomattox County Safety Council. George F. Abbitt, Jr. is temporary chairman and has called the meeting.

G. Christian Tubbs, field representative of the Governor's Safety Council, was here this week making plans for the meeting.

It has been suggested that the new organization be a memorial to the late Capt. O. E. Snell, of the State Police.

The public is invited to attend this meeting.

The organization will set up a committee under each of the following headings: engineering, educational, enforcement and publicity.

Fence Request

The popular song, "Don't Fence Me In," is an oft-heard refrain among State Highway Department engineers in connection with the State's secondary road improvement program.

Fences that stand within right-of-way lines along secondary highways frequently hamper the improvement program, a highway spokesman explained.

One resident engineer - badly fenced - in along his secondary routes - estimated that it would require all the road funds he has available over a two-year period to move back all the fences.

"I can't build roads without a place to build them," he said.

Generally, he said, the right-of-way on secondary roads extends 15 feet on each side of the center line of the road. In many instances, private fences are erected within this 30 foot right-of-way.

Whenever a new fence is built, it should be placed beyond the right-of-way line, engineers emphasize. The resident engineer will be happy to aid citizens in determining the proper location.

Pamplin Club

The Pamplin 4-H Club meeting was held on Friday April 8th. It was planned to observe Rural Life Sunday on May 8 at the Pamplin Methodist Church. The Rev. T. L. Simpson will deliver the sermon.

The club is to give a program on safety in May.

Corn Growers Plan Meeting

Corn yields in Appomattox County can easily be doubled by following a special demonstration program for corn in 1949. Approximately a hundred corn producers of Appomattox County will participate in this program. A meeting of the group and other corn producers will be held Friday, April 15, at 7:45 P. M. in Appomattox Court House.

W. W. Lewis, Extension Associate Agronomist, will discuss preparation of good seed bed, adapted hybrids, applications of fertilizer to meet the requirements for 100 bushels of corn per acre, proper spacing of corn in rows, and cultivation.

James B. Fray, agriculturalist of the Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce, will show an interesting picture on how more than 100 bushels of corn can be produced, and will discuss trophies and prizes offered by the Chamber of Commerce.

P. H. DeHart, Extension Agronomist, said, "One of the easiest ways to increase the wealth of this section and give a decided impetus to the the livestock production is through increased corn production."

All corn producers of Appomattox County are urged to attend this meeting.

Barter Theatre Play Scheduled Here April 29

Barter Players' production of "Dear Ruth" will be presented at the Appomattox High School auditorium Friday evening, April 29, at 8 o'clock. The play is being sponsored by the Appomattox Parent-Teacher Association.

"Dear Ruth" is one of the comedies to come out of the last World War, and has been a favorite with stock, summer and touring companies since it made its first appearance on Broadway.

Miss Virginia Mattis will play the title role, and other members of the cast include Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Gordon Sommers, Charles Durand and Caddell Burroughs.

Miss Wilson was chosen by Miss Helen Hayes as a winner of a position in the Barter Company. Miss Mattis has a long line of radio appearances to her credit.

Mr. Sommers, best remembered for his Shakespearean roles, will get into modern dress to play the humorous role of Ruth's distracted father.

The story is of a teen-age girl who writes letters to an Air Force man overseas and signs her older sister's name to the letters, thus starting a romance about which her older sister knew nothing. Things become complicated when the young man comes home on leave and meets Ruth, who is engaged to a staid young banker.

Will Honor Bond Chairmen

Invitations to Virginia city and county Savings Bond chairmen to attend a banquet in their honor at the Jefferson Hotel, Richmond, April 19th, have been issued.

Judge Joel W. Flood is chairman for Appomattox County for the sale of Federal Savings Bonds.

Many of these volunteers have served continuously since 1941, and this includes the eight loans conducted during World War II.

The invitations, extended by Governor W. M. Tuck, in cooperation with the Savings Bonds Committee, point out that the occasion is being arranged as fitting recognition of the service rendered by the chairmen during the past eight years to the state and nation.

Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University and Number One volunteer in Virginia as State Chairman of the Savings Bonds Advisory Committee, will participate as banquet toastmaster.
